Video: Elements of Destruction Cause-Effect Relationships Nonfiction Text Structure (multiple causes – single effect)

Erin is having a crazy morning, but that doesn't stop her from meeting Reed at the library. Join the Knowledge Seekers as they THINK ALOUD and learn how authors use Cause-Effect Relationships Nonfiction Text Structure to describe what causes an event and what happens as an effect of that event.

In this video, you will learn to:

- think about cause-effect relationships, specifically multiple causes-single event
- identify signal words
- create graphic organizers
