

INTRODUCTION

Video: Reptile Relatives Compare-Contrast Nonfiction Text Structure (whole-whole)

Paige and Sam are eager to see the Reptile Relatives exhibit. They want to learn everything about alligators and crocodiles. But first, they have to find out how to tell them apart! Join the Knowledge Seekers as they THINK ALOUD and learn how authors use Compare-Contrast text structure to show how two things are alike or different; specifically whole-whole.

In this video, you will learn to:

- think about comparing and contrasting; specifically whole-whole situations
- identify signal words
- create graphic organizers
