

SIGNAL WORDS

Sequence Nonfiction Text Structure (life cycle)

This is a list of some commonly used words authors use to signal Sequence Nonfiction Text Structure. It is the structure that authors use when they want to put events in order, such as describing a life cycle, telling about something in chronological order, or providing a set of steps or directions.

When you begin looking for these words as you read, you will notice they signal sequence, or order, of key concepts or ideas that the author is writing about.

You may want to consider using these words in your own writing or speaking when you want to put events in order.

Sequence
additionally	first	second	Also: days of the week letters of the alphabet (A, B, C...) months numbers time years after	following	shortly after afterwards	in the future	simultaneously another	initially	since at that moment	last	soon at the beginning	later	then at the end	long ago	third before	next	today
during	now	until earlier	o'clock	when eventually	preceding	while finally	prior to	yesterday	